

Should Old Acquaintance Be Forgotten?

Not at Christmas time, assuredly NOT.

To promote that cheer which should characterize the season there must be giving of gifts.

But the same old question arises—"What shall it be?"

We make no attempt to answer that question for you in this ad. But our stock will do it for you.

Keep this store in mind. To miss our display is to miss a good deal of the pleasure that belongs to the season.

We desire to mention that from a standpoint of prices this store will make it profitable for you to make your selections here.

Try to be an early looker.

Rowland and Clifford's "Jane Eyre"

Something entirely out of the ordinary is being offered by Rowland and Clifford in their new comedy drama success "Jane Eyre". The play has been written along modern lines, with bright dialogue, up-to-date comedy, compelling situations, powerful climaxes, and a series of stage pictures exceptional in beauty and strength. The author, Peter G. Platti, has done well, producing a play modern in every sense of the word, still retaining all the original intensity and interest found in the book. "Jane Eyre" is booked at the Logan Opera House for Wednesday, Dec. 16.

What to do for the Holidays.

Several years ago we began a campaign practically untried in hardware business, which was to persuade our customers to buy useful articles for Christmas presents. Each year during the past few, the number of ice-cream freezers, patent sod-irons, gas heaters and ranges, washing-machines, wringers, tools, carpet sweepers, household scales, food choppers, roasters, coffee pots, enameled, nickel and copper, ware of all kinds, carvers, pocket knives, table cutlery and guns, that we have sold, have far exceeded our expectations. Many of our customers have expressed themselves as highly satisfied with the idea inaugurated of giving to those who need something that they can make use of in the way of labor-saving articles of genuine merit. It gives to those who give more pleasure and to those who receive both comfort and pleasure. Be progressive and come in now and select sensible and useful articles for your family and friends. Do it now, you'll feel better.—Work Bros., East Main street.

Will Enforce the Laws.

Beginning Nov. 16, 1908, Humane Officers will strictly enforce the laws governing blanket protection for horses left standing in the streets or public highways in Hocking Co. Owners and drivers of all horses are required to robe the animal or animals at every stop of duration, and society officers will be assisted by the police force, constable and other officers in enforcing the requirements.

Those who fail to properly protect their horses are liable to a fine of $5.00 for the first offense and imprisonment. And a $25.00 fine for the second.

It is the most inhuman thing a man can do, to leave a steaming horse, weary from a long drive, standing in the cold without a blanket covering.

They are Birds.

Morocco, Ind., December 6.—A woman living near Martinton, southwest of this town, has all her life been afflicted with strange names. She has been married three times. Her maiden name was Partidge; her first husband's name was Robin, her second Sparrow and her present husband's name is Quayle.

There are now two Robins, one

Sparrow and three little Quayles in the family.

One of her grandfathers was named Swann, a fact which is not mentioned as having any bearing on her peculiar run of luck in the matter of names.

NEWS NOTES

Stevenson Elected

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Leaders of Illinois Democracy will meet at state headquarters here today to perfect plans to petition the supreme court for a writ of prohibition to prevent the inauguration of Governor Deneen. Adlai Stevenson, who ran against Deneen, was present at the conference.

The investigation of returns that has been made by the Democrats convinces them that Stevenson was elected over Deneen by a slight plurality. A recount will be asked.

Springfield, Dec. 3.—Harvey Wagner of Dayton, aged 34, fell with a loaded gun in his hands today and was almost instantly killed. His right arm was torn from his body. He was hunting near Midway when the accident happened.

Lebanon, Dec. 3.—Raymond Bogan, a young farmer residing near Mainville, shot his foot off while hunting to get into position to shoot a rabbit. His gun was discharged as he jumped a fence.

Hamilton, Dec. 3.—Another hunting fatality in this vicinity, the third of the season, was reported today, when James Stupp died of a gunshot wound at Eldorado. His shotgun was discharged from his lung as he was climbing a fence.
